What is easier in v2.0

- Special characters removed: æ dropped → the vowel set is now 6 letters (a, e, i, o, u, y)
- Sacred script is decorative only: everyday use is Roman letters (and Hangul phonetic guide)
- Verb inflection simplified: 7 forms → 3 forms (past · present · future)
- Particles reduced: 7 → 4 (subject / object / possessive / locative)
- Pronunciation rule: read the Roman letters exactly as written; no hidden sounds

1. Alphabet (20 letters)

Six vowels — read as written

Letter	Pronunciation	Meaning
a	/a/ as in "father"	being
e	/e/ as in "bed"	love
i	/i/ as in "machine"	self · consciousness
o	/o/ as in "more"	harmony
u	/u/ as in "flute"	cosmos
y	short /i/	empathy

Fourteen consonants — read as written

Letter	Sound	Meaning	Letter	Sound	Meaning
m	/m/	source	n	/n/	connection
l	/l/	light	r	/r/	cycle
s	/s/	flow	t	/t/	truth
d	/d/	dignity	k	/k/	creation
g	/g/	growth	p	/p/	peace
b	/b/	life	h	/h/	breath · sacred
j	/dʒ/	joy	v	soft /b/–/v/	vibration

Pronunciation rule: read Roman letters exactly as they appear. No silent letters, no hidden sounds.

Examples: luvo = "loo-vo", paksa = "pak-sa", mi = "mee"

2. Grammar (very simple)

Word order = SOV (Subject – Object – Verb)

mi thae-ne luvo.

I you-OBJ love. → "I love you."

Only four particles
